

Success / failure distributions — one point per construct; black line = mean

